FIFA is the world's biggest football game. FIFA is not simply an exercise in the sport; it is a computer game that lets you immerse yourself in the sport through a variety of modes and the virtual experience of leading a football club. What's new? Football is evolving. Each year, FIFPro and FIFA team up to develop the core gameplay of FIFA. Their focus is to improve all aspects of football, from technical skill to fitness, from ball-control to player intelligence and decision-making. The new Level of Detail technology (LOD) allows you to build a completely bespoke stadium and recreate anything from the smallest street in your town to the biggest arenas in the world with detailed 3D representations of your clubs' supporters and the environments you play in. Each year, we introduce significant gameplay changes based on extensive feedback from players. We employ the same data-driven approach to update the simulation of the game. We create new options for players through over 40 new FUT updates, in addition to the new artificial intelligence engine that makes your team of players react to the game like real players. Playing the games is the part you know the most. We strive to make the most realistic experience possible. The introduction of new player movement options, new ball physics, new animations, and dynamic tackling all make the playing field more realistic. New Career Mode lets you rebuild your career as an elite footballer, playing in the Champions League, the UEFA European Championship, and the FIFA Club World Cup, competing for your club's first team and leading your country at the international level. Features Simulation Bring the game to life with authentic visuals and an engaging 1:1 player model through the introduction of five new camera views. All moving parts of the ball will have individual visuals with effective collisions. FIFA Ultimate Team (FUT) Collect, trade and manage over 40,000 players from 550 leagues across the world to build the ultimate team of the world's best players. EA SPORTS Pre-Match Shows Interact with key characters throughout the match; learn more about how your team is performing, and how your opponents are preparing for this match.
