I actually enjoyed the gameplay... and soon you'll be seeing some pretty cool game play videos too. Just downloaded the beta and the game has a very neat look to it. Considering the fact that the game play is so simple, I am really enjoying it. I'm going to try to get off work in time to try it for sure! Despite the potentially low player count, the game has tons of depth if you get into the menus and start messing around with the cards. Atomicnova118 Said: I like that this game is open-source! Also I like the card variation! I definitely do appreciate having several options available to me. I do feel as if the game selection is limited in many ways though.
